A Funeral

Licensed Historical Excerpt

So gorgeous was the spectacle on the May morning of 1910 when nine kings rode in the funeral of Edward VII of England that the crowd, waiting in hushed and black-clad awe, could not keep back gasps of admiration. In scarlet and blue and green and purple, three by three the sovereigns rode through the palace gates, with plumed helmets, gold braid, crimson sashes, and jeweled orders flashing in the sun.

Together they represented seventy nations in the greatest assemblage of royalty and rank ever gathered in one place and, of its kind, the last.
